

As an active amateur radio operator, I am strongly opposed to the implementation of BPL. This will not only affect the amateur bands, but also emergency communications. It seems that BPL is already in use in Ohio, with plans to expand to Kentucky and Indiana. The testing done by ARRL clearly shows the effects of interference by BPL. I have yet to see reports of the test results done by the FCC. Where might one find these reports? Is anyone out there listening? Thank you.
